

The President's message was a silent document.

It was silent on the negro at any rate.

What is to be the destiny of the negro?

The apologists are increasing.

The Washington Post is suffering with a severe attack of wild colic.

It will require two presidents, with the Post included, to make the negro accept such leadership as Kelly Miller and Booker T. Washington.

We have some among the white people.

Editor Fortune of the New York Age is a manly and fearless journalist.

We need brave men and men of nerve.

Don't be a toady when you are right.

This is an ordeal through which the negro is passing.

There will be a bright day for the negro soon.

Be honest, true and manly.

What the colored race needs today is a Moses.

Is it best for the negro to be silent?

Be useful citizens and manly in your utterances.

Are the negroes cowards or are they manly?

Don't be alarmed, there will be a day of reckoning.

Speak the truth. Be honest and sincere.

It is the coward who cannot speak the truth.

There are millions in this country who will need the help of the negro.

How did you like Editor Fortune's speech?

The Post as well as other papers need apologetic negro leadership.

There are breakers ahead.

Should a race be compromised because we don't want to insult our enemies?

Let us live in hope, the promise land will be reached some day.

Don't forget to express your honest convictions.

Think well of your neighbor, you may ask him a favor yet.

If you want a live paper, read THE BEE.

No one will regret the retirement of Secretary Bliss.

INDUSTRIAL EDUCATION.

Our criticisms upon Mr. Booker T. Washington and Prof. Kelley Miller should not be misunderstood. Personally we admire these gentlemen. They both are doing a good work, professionally. But we are not to be swept off our feet by the applause these two gentlemen are now receiving from the press. It has been a trite saying in this country that when John Bull puts us on the back he has a diplomatic scheme up his sleeve, and our experience leads us to believe that Messrs. Washington and Miller will later discover that beneath all this fulsome flattery, especially from those who advocate lynch law, jim crow cars and the elimination of the negro as a voter, is the scheme to make him a serf.

Industrial education will not cure the ills of which we complain. Who is going to employ the black car-builder, railroad engineer or boiler-maker? Already the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen, at a recent meeting held at Norfolk, Va. state "that one of the chief objects of the meeting of the brotherhoods was to begin a campaign in advocacy of white supremacy in the railway service," further, "that the avenue to the locomotive should be open to the whites alone, and these claimed the right to man the engines upon the highways of southern commerce."

The press which lauds Booker T. Washington and Kelly Miller is ominously silent. If they favor the industrial education of the negro why do they not hold up to scorn and contempt those white men who are bent on depriving him of a fair share of employment at the trade he has learned? If Washington and Miller cannot see through this veneering of hypocrisy their obtuseness is to be pitied.

Is it the plan of the white press, which is now so ardently supporting these gentlemen, that the negro shall set up a separate and distinct government right here in the United States, owning his separate railroads, his steel-rail factories and what not in order to give employment to his colored artisans? Let us carry this ridiculous proposition to its logical conclusion upon the following hypothesis: Suppose we own our own railroads, steamships, canal boats, mill plants and everything of moment in the business world now owned and manned by the whites, and suppose the latter makes claim that we undersell them and for that reason should be deprived of our franchises, would not their racial opposition be just as tenable on this larger scale as it now is on the present smaller one? Race antipathy is race antipathy any way you take it. It is unjust and should be stamped out. There are hundreds of colored men and women who have finished trades yet the whites will not employ them, and Mr. Washington thinks otherwise he has but to come to this city to get the proof.

What we advocate is that merit shall be the test for employment and that the negro shall be allowed to make this test. The white editor who praises Becker wishes-ton and then leaves a sleeping car coach because a colored gentleman has a birth therein is a hypocrite and a dangerous member of society.

THE PRESIDENTIAL CANDIDATE FOR 1900.

The Star, of the 3rd inst., in concluding an article on the ticket for 1900 and speaking of President McKinley says: "as a unifier his record will be equally praiseworthy, and it is almost impossible to conceive of his being successfully opposed for renomination."

It is a little early to prophesy, but the main question after all is: not who can secure the nomination but who, having received it, can be elected. The successful termination of the war and the unification of the north and south, so far as the latter may affect the whites of these sections, will not be a campaign document sufficient to blot out of the minds of the colored voters of Ohio, Indiana and New York the treatment our race has just received in the south—and right upon the heel of the unexampled valor of the colored soldier. The Star evidently voices the sentiments of the average white man who in counting up everything political always eliminates the negro as a factor. If, in any particular section of this Union, white men were denied their civil and political rights and, added to this, were murdered on the slightest provocation, the whites in the other section in voicing their disapproval of such an unlawful condition, would hesitate to vote for any party or representative of any party who would ignore the crimes committed. Especially would they feel outraged and insulted if a presidential candidate whom they had once helped to elect had added insult to injury by extending the right hand of fellowship to the very people who had been the cause of the crimes mentioned. Over one thousand colored voters in the State of Indiana remained away from the polls at the last state election owing to the refusal of the President to send troops to North Carolina after Senator Prichard and others had begged him to do so. They felt that they could not vote the democratic ticket which would have been tantamount to a jump out of the flying pan into the fire. But the black men of the south were their brothers, the whites had waged unholy war against them for three months, threatening to murder those who attempted to vote at the coming election. They had shipped into the state thousands of arms and immense stores of ammunition. The colored citizens, when this was known, were advised to also arm, but dealers refused to sell to them. Leading metropolitan dailies sent their best reporters there and had them on the spot, and the President and the civilized world were given the facts. Every body knew that black men, women and children would be murdered just as sure as election day dawned unless Gov. Russell and the President took steps immediately. In those states where the colored man is allowed to vote he waited with bated breath for the news from Washington, but it never came and thousands of them marched silently to the polls, with heads hung down, and voted the republican ticket. Did they do right or wrong? That is the question And should they vote for a presidential candidate in 1900 who, before the blood of the victims of the Wilmington massacre had thoroughly cooled, stretches his arms over the head of the poor outraged black man and shakes the hand of his enemy?

PIE VS. MANHOOD.

The State of Indiana is justly entitled to the distinction of furnishing the only colored federal office holder, of prominence, whose sense of manhood was in no wise affected by the stipend he drew from the public treasury. We respectfully refer to the Rev. Dr. Townsend who was recorder of lands for a brief period under the Harrison administration. The public pie counter held out to Dr. Townsend no illurement sufficient to blind his eyes to the wrongs suffered by our people or to stifle his tongue and prevent his giving full utterance to the in dignation which swelled his bosom when the attempt was made to form a white man's republican party at the south for the avowed purpose of abandoning the negro,—a political fate that await him now.

A grave error is unwittingly committed by giving the title of "negro leader" to every colored man appointed to a position above an ordinary clerkship. The prominent colored office holder, in Washington or elsewhere, who attempts to palliate, condone or give excuse for the recent outrages against the colored citizens of North Carolina, or to cast aspersions upon Mr. Fortune for his manly, courageous and scathing denunciation, of them is not a negro leader in any sense of the term implies nor is he in real touch with the masses of his race in the locality in which he lives.

But, if the southern negro office holding-contingent is satisfied with his lot we cannot see why his northern brother should continue to worry about him. The northern colored voter has been pulling chestnuts out of the fire for his southern brother about long enough and it is quite a time the former should cease tearing his shirt about negro massacres at the south, since his southern brother, who holds a fat government job, is so profuse in his apologies for the outrages committed.

RAFNESC N NOT BE CURED

by local applications as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars; free.

Mr. Nathan member of the 19th St. Mr. Benj. Wa inter.

Mr. Jim Muse, one of Washington's most congenial and entertaining hosts, gave a delightful little supper to Messrs. Samuel Watson, Addison Syphax, David A. Clark and L. H. Peterson, on Monday night January 2, at Gray and Costley's. A very appetizing menu was served after Mr. Muse's own style, it was heartily enjoyed by all present, with the coffee and cigars, the best New Year whiskeys of all kinds were exchanged. Jim Muse knows what the boys like after being out calling all day.

Prof. F. Bouchot a learned French teacher and instructor and a worthy representative of the race is stopping in the city for a while.

A New Year's reception was given by Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Brooker, at their new and handsome residence, 415 13th street, southeast, on last Monday evening. There were fully twenty-five invited guests present. Mrs. Brooker was becomingly attired in black satin silk, with a white lace collar and a beautiful gold chain with a diamond in the center. She was assisted by Misses Ella Ashton, and Annie Ashton her nieces who were beautifully dressed in white silk and jewelry. The reception was held in the front parlor and the guest were invited to the dining room in rear where they partook of fine repast that had been prepared by Mr. and Mrs. Brooker. Mr. Brooker wore a conventional black and he did everything in his power to make his guests enjoy the festivities of the day. In the evening they received calls from the East End Social Club, Richard Gosby, president and Henry Layster, secty.

Mr. Marie Smith, assisted by Mrs. Marshall, Miss Tyler, Miss Compton, and Miss Galvin entertained their may callers at the beautiful home of Mrs. Smith, 1214 25th street. String music was in attendance and from 10 to 12 a New Year's ball was given. Our representative visited no place where there were so many pretty girls and so delightful a repast served. Around the dining room were palms and other plants which reminded one of typical New Year's Day. This house was the mecca in the first ward which all sought.

Miss Janie Churchill of N. Y., who is spending as is her custom, the winter in Washington, received, assisted by Miss Holmes, Miss Green and Miss Willis. Miss Churchill coming fresh from New York, brought all the latest social styles with her, and her drawing room and dining room were thus magnificently arranged for the reception of her many guests, her punch and salad was superb, it was served by Miss Green and Miss Holmes. Miss Churchill gave a little Dance from 10 to 12.

Miss Janie Cox received at 1511 Madison street, assisted by her sister and Miss Amis. She served from a beautifully prepared table, all the delicacies of the season. All of the gentlemen enjoyed themselves at her home.

Mrs. Moore, assisted by her sisters, Mrs. Taylor, Miss Dina Butler and Mrs. Lounds received at the home of the former, on 19th street. These ladies are well known in Washington for their hospitality and their many callers received a happy New Year's greeting and plenty of other nice things which go to make the day pleasant.

Mrs. Coles, assisted by several ladies, received at her residence on 19th street, northwest. All of the gentlemen and particularly the members of the Order of Odd Fellows know of Mrs. Coles' sociality and generous way of entertaining, she made the real young girls' hustle for her pleasant New Year's smile, her amiable manners, her fine table etc., were so becoming that every where you went you could hear the gentlemen praising Mrs. Coles' reception.

There were many others too numerous to mention in this space, who held open house on last Monday and handsomely entertained their friends.

MUSICAL NOTES.

Mr. Wm. Orme, the tenor of St. Mary's choir was heard to good advantage on his solo work last Sunday. The Sight Singing Class conducted by Mr. Elie S. Huffman is meeting with splendid success. The outcome of this movement means the formation of the future permanent chorus in this city of Washington.

Miss Rachel Walker, soprano of Cleveland, Ohio, is now in Europe charming the Old country with her singing.

Prof. Wm. Braxton, organist at the Metropolitan M. E. Church, ranks with the best in the city. It is a rare treat to hear him Sundays.

The Washington talent now on the road with the various troupes are all holding their ends in good styles.

The following officers were installed last Monday morning at the 19th St. Baptist Church Sunday School, with appropriate exercises, Dr. A. H. Stevens, supt., Mr. J. L. Jasper, first asst. supt., Miss Julie Jackson, 2nd asst. supt., Mr. Samuel Taylor, secretary, Miss Lizzie Toler, asst. secy., Mr. Nathan Ruffin, treasurer, Mr. Arthur Newman, librarian, Mr. Jackson Tucker, asst. librarian, Mr. Benjamin Washington, chorister, Miss Lena Holmes, organist.

Mr. Nathan Ruffin was elected a member of the Auditing Committee of the 19th St. Baptist Church, vice Mr. Benj. Washington elected chor-

LIST OF IMPORTANT ITEMS IN ASTRONOMICAL PROGRESS.

[From Signs of the Times.]

The first eclipse recorded occurred at Babylon, March 19, 721 B. C. It was of the moon, and was recorded by Ptolemy. A tablet found at Nineveh is thought to contain a record of a solar eclipse which occurred June 15, 763 B. C.

The earliest-known works on astronomy were prepared by Aristotle about 350 B. C.

The mean motion of the sun and moon was determined by Hipparchus (who also discovered the precession of the equinoxes), 160-125 B. C.

The places and distances of the planets were discovered by Ptolemy, 139-161 A. D.

Astronomy was cultivated by the Arabs about 760 A. D., and introduced into Europe.

The principle of the telescope was described by Roger Bacon in 1250, and in 1537 Leonard Digges arranged lenses so that he could see very distant objects. In 1608 telescopes were constructed by Lipperhey and Jensen.

A description of these enabled Galileo, in the following year, to construct an improved instrument, with which, in 1610, he discovered Jupiter's satellites.

Kepler's laws of planetary motion were announced in 1609 and 1618.

In 1654 Huyghens discovered Saturn's rings.

In 1655 Huyghens discovered Titan, the largest of Saturn's satellites.

Four more of Saturn's satellites were discovered by Cassius from 1671 to 1684. Wm. Herschel discovered two in 1788: and Bond, the last, in 1848.

The reflecting telescope was invented by Gregory in 1663.

The first charts of the moon were constructed in 1670.

In 1675, Romer discovered the velocity of light by the observation of Jupiter's satellites.

Newton's system was taught and demonstrated in 1687.

In 1705 Halley made the first successful prediction of the return of a certain comet. (This comet, known as Halley's, will return again in 1910.)

Uranus was discovered in 1781, and two of his satellites, in 1787, by Herschel; the other two, by Lassell and Struve in 1846.

Neptune was found by Dr. Galle, of Berlin, on September 23, 1846, who had been told by Leverrier where the planet would be found. In the following month its satellite was discovered by Mr. Lassell.

The art of producing pictures by the action of sunlight upon a sensitized plate (now so extensively used in connection with astronomical work) was discovered by Wedgwood and Davy, of London, in 1802. M. Daguerre improved upon their work, and in 1839 produced Daguerretype plates. The first photograph of the moon was made by Draper, of New York City, in 1840; but it was not till 1850 and 1851 that good work in this line began to appear.

The first picture of the sun was taken in 1845; but successful views of the corona were not secured until 1870. The first photograph of a star was taken in 1830; of a nebula, in 1880; and of a comet, in 1881.

tion with perfect safety.

All uncomfortable and injurious steel spring pressure is avoided.

The pad is held in place by woven bands, which retain an equal pressure in all positions of the body.

It can be worn in bed, a great desir-eratum to the young as tending to a perfect cure.

It is the only suitable truss for children and females.

The proper amount of pressure can be brought to bear and maintained in any position without pinching or harm to the wearer.

It will cure hernia if placed on the patient sufficiently early.

Excepting umbilical, it is the best truss ever offered for all kinds of hernia.

It is so perfect and comfortable in its adjustment that the patient in a short time forgets he is wearing it.
(See the certificate of Mr. Daniel Johnson.)

Sent postage paid to any address on receipt of price; $3 for single and $4 for double truss.

In ordering, give location of hernia, right or left side, and measurement.

Satisfaction given or money refunded when the truss is returned in good order. Address:

Delia:—Positions make some people, but not so well, that you can't tell that they are not used to something.

Essie:—You are admired for your simplicity in dress and sweet disposition.

S. C.:—A butterfly has a short life, such is the case with a fickle mind or coquettish man or woman.

There is a certain lady in the schools who is not herself, since she has been made principal. Guess who she is. Send answers to this office.

F. F.:—It is only the knave or coward who will say what he likes to say through others. A person who is woman enough to make charges ought to have courage enough to stand to them.

Mollie:—Never suspicion a person without a cause. Heavy hangs the curtain over the guilty one's head. Evil thoughts, enter evil minds.

Ida:—I am glad you are convinced that you were entertaining the wrong young woman. Never suspicion a person, because others do.

Sadie:—No young girl or single lady should take a married woman as her bosom friend. When one gets married, it is time enough to seek married people's company.

Lizzie:—It is not necessary to confine yourself to a man, although you may be engaged to him. No man has a right to dictate to a lady what she should do or should do.

Mazie:—Your case is not a peculiar one. I believe in an independent girl. Let not a man see that you are anxious for his company, if so he is apt to slight you.

A. S.:—You talk too much; a teacher should be a model in looks as well as in words. You should cultivate your manner of speech.

Laura:—Your looks are irreproachable. Be yourself and allow people to call you sensible.

I. B.:—Some people find it very convenient to act selfish. No one can live without friends.

New Year receptions are growing old and out of date. Informal receptions are in better taste and less expensive.

A dressing sack makes a charming present to any young lady.

A smoking jacket is an appropriate gift to a young man.

Young ladies should not buy cigars as a present for a gentleman. Men should not be encouraged in burning money. Smoking is a bad habit and a great waste of money.

Lilly:—Feather boas are not as much worn as they were last winter. Fur take the lead in neck wear.

A merry Xmas and happy New Year to all.

Be mindful of others. Heavy is the heart that is all for itself.

Selfishness never was known to make friends.

E. M.:—Cocoa butter is an excellent remedy for the skin. I don't know of anything that will make you three times lighter without injuring the skin.

To make the skin firm and remove black heads, wash in water as warm as bearable, then rinse in lukewarm water and then bathe the face in ice cold water.

Hallie:—Good singers don't sing every time they are asked, neither are they always humming.

Never make a present with the intention of receiving one in return.

Hattie:—Never suspicion one of wrong doing. It is as much as you can do to attend to your own business.

T. M.:—Never write so that a third party cannot read what you say.

S. T.:—It is well some times to have a confidant. It is always well to tell so much and no more.

Tillie:—Never accept valuable gifts if you are not engaged.

R. T.:—Never dress flashy it will not become a refined young lady.

R. L. C.:—You should always take your mamma's advice. Kindness toward your little brother will naturally make you kind when you become a woman.

E. T.:—Some people are more inclined to gossip than others.

T. O.:—Select your society. Never associate with the vulgar.

R. O. M.:—A good girl will make a good woman. A person may appear smart without being smart.

T. T.:—You should study the art of fashion. Your clothes should be made to fit you.

N. O.:—You should be careful with whom you associate. All is lost when you lose your reputation.

Oliver:—Make your letters plain and distinct.

Contributors are requested to have in on or before Tuesday.

THE MOST NEGLECTED HOMES.
THOSE OF THE WOMEN WHO DEMAND
AN EXPANSION FOR THEIR SEX.

"It is an indisputable fact that there are scores of American women to-day connected with charitable, club or organization work for which they have no actual taste and only a force inter- est," writes Edward Bok in the Janu- ary Ladies' Home Journal. "But the insufficiency of the home as a place for women to develop their fullest talents has been so incessantly talked about that these women have felt that, to be in touch with progressive ideas, they must take on some outside work, even at the cost of leaving something un- done in the home machinery.

Some women do not stop to discern an incontestable fact: that those of their sex who are forever crying about the narrowness of the home for women are those who have either never had homes of their own or are unhappy in the homes which they have. No hap- py wife nor true mother ever has a word to say in complaint of the nar- rowness of her home or its insuffici- ency for her highest development. She knows all too well that a home is never narrow: that it can be made as broad as a woman wills it. Where a home is narrow, depend upon it there is al- ways something wrong: something is amiss. The most barren homes in this country generally belong to one class of women: those who, on the platform and with pen, are always hysterically and frantically demanding an expansion of woman's opportuni- ties. It is a very fortunate thing for some of these exclaimers that those whom they address cannot look into their homes and see the true reason for their restlessness and dissatisfaction. If they could their platform careers would soon come to an end."
